Subject: Members of Parliament and the Draft State Budget 2010

Sir/Madam,

It is my pleasure to send you the attached letter to all parliamentarians sitting in ordinary session of Parliament this November. The Session, which will be dominated by deliberations on the draft state budget for 2010, presents unique opportunity for Members of Parliament (MPs) to judge the intentions and performance of government and hold it to account. In the process, MPs need as much help as possible, from other public policy stakeholders, to identify and assess what works well or not in government and society, as they review and seek to improve the government's draft state budget.

Our letter to all MPs is an example of how anyone can, and is very welcome to, contribute. Help our country to come out of crisis into prosperity for all. It will delight us to get feedback from you.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

With great regards,

Mbwoye Daniel Mbong
